Q.64 (SPLIT B ONLY) Now let me tell you what the Democrats and Republicans are saying are their top issues to work on in the next year. After I read them, please tell me which party's issue priorities come closest to your own priorities, even if neither is exactly right.

The Democrats in Congress say they will focus on ways to achieve greater energy independence, focused on alternative energy; health care by making sure all children have health insurance and allowing access to cheaper drugs from Canada, making college costs tax deductible, and for homeland security, requiring that the government inspect all containers coming into America.

The Republicans in Congress say they will focus on ways to achieve greater energy independence, focused on ethanol, coal and U.S. oil; health care by making some insurance costs tax deductible, making tax cuts permanent for families and businesses, making No Child Left Behind more effective, and continue our resolve in the war on terrorism

Q.65 (SPLIT A ONLY) Now let me tell you what the Democrats and Republicans are saying are their top issues to work on in the next year. After I read them, please tell me which party's issue priorities come closest to your own priorities, even if neither is exactly right.

The Democrats in Congress say they will focus on ways to achieve energy independence, focused on alternative energy; health care by making sure all children have health insurance and allowing access to cheaper drugs from Canada, tax credits to encourage flextime and require that men and women receive equal pay for equal work, and requiring the inspection of all containers coming into America.

The Republicans in Congress say they will focus on ways to achieve greater energy independence, focused on ethanol, coal and U.S. oil; health care by making some insurance costs tax deductible, making tax cuts permanent for families and businesses, making No Child Left Behind more effective, and continue our resolve in the war on terrorism.
